Robber on the Train.—Dr. G. D. Hart of Otho, Ia., reported to the police Wednesday morning he was robbed while coming into Omaha on an early train. Someone is supposed to have jostled him in the aisle and picked $20 from his clothes.

Two-Story Brick Flat.—Hastings & Hoyer have had plans prepared for a two-story brick flat building at 613 S. 24th South Nineteenth street. It will cost $8,000. The firm bought the site last fall. Work will be started in a few days.

Licenses for August.—Collections for August as reported by the license inspectors amount to $1,512. The total collection for the year is now $18,330, as against the collections for the entire year 1906, which was a record breaker up to that time.

Exchange Revises Rules.—Some revisions of the rules of the Omaha Grain exchange were made at a meeting of the board of directors Tuesday afternoon. A new edition of the rules is being prepared for the press. The membership of the late George Barnes, representing Ware & Leland, was transferred to E. G. Hudnall, representing the same company.

Booty of Dollar and a Half.—Joseph Robinson of Goldfield, Ia., was held up Tuesday night by two men whom he met at the White Front restaurant. They claimed to be railroad men and asked him to come and visit them at their car on the tracks. As they were going toward the railroad yards they forgot their friendship and one held his hands while the other went through his pockets. The booty amounted to about $1.50 and a watch.

Altaid Discharged.—Justice of the peace Althoff discharged Judge William Redick and O. C. Redick Wednesday afternoon. They were brought up on a complaint charging them with violation of the city sanitary laws, the complaint being by certain tenants on some of their properties.

Ohio Society Meeting.—The Ohio society will meet Friday evening at the establishment of the Barrett-Johnson company, 1507 Farnam street. All natives of the Buckeye state, as well as former residents of the state now living in Omaha, are invited to be present. Important matters are to come before the meeting.

Assaulted for Dropping Mother Tongue.—Peter Bardeley, a Greek section laborer living at 2723 California street, has sworn out a warrant in police court for the arrest of one of his fellow workers whose name he does not know. The gang with which he works, he says, has become angry with him because he refused to speak in Greek but prefers English and for that reason he was assaulted.

Bids for Potatoes and Onions.—Bids will be opened September 25 at the office of Captain T. B. Hacker, chief commissary of the Department of the Missouri for the annual supply of potatoes and onions for the several posts of the department. It is the wish of the United States commissary department to secure proposals from the producers of these products rather than second hand. The proposals contemplate many thousands of bushels of these products to be purchased for army use.

Laborer Hurt by Falling Iron.—Ed Morse, a laborer employed on the concrete work in the building of the new Paxton-Gallagher warehouse at Ninth and Jones streets, was painfully injured Wednesday morning by the dropping of a heavy piece of iron across his lower limb. He was standing near the iron, which weighed several hundred pounds, when it was being moved and it was accidentally let loose. Dr. Harris, police surgeon, and Dr. Allison dressed the injuries and he was taken to his home, 2710 Burdett street. The bones were not broken.

Lutheran Ministers to Synod.—Four Lutheran ministers left Omaha Wednesday for Grand Island, where they will attend the meeting of the Nebraska synod of that church. They were Rev. J. E. Hamann, pastor of the Central Lutheran church; Rev. Dr. L. Groh, pastor of St. Mark's church; Rev. M. L. Melick, pastor of Grace church; and Rev. R. W. Livora, pastor of the First church, South Omaha. Dr. Groh will preach the ordination sermon and is also chairman of the extension committee of the synod. The synod's jurisdiction number 30,000 and there are more than 400 churches.

Omaha After Prison Congress.—Judge Lee S. Estelle, one of the Nebraska delegates to the annual meeting of the National Prison association to be held in Chicago, Ak-Sar-Ben governors and Mayor of Omaha, has been authorized on behalf of Dahlgren to extend an invitation to the association to hold its meeting for 1908 in Omaha. The meeting of the National Prison association constitutes one of the most important gatherings of national bodies in the country, and invariably bring together a host of the leading philanthropists and educators of the country, as well as the leading spirits of the country in prison reform.

Fighter and Wrestler Mix.—Pete Loch and Clarence English, wrestler and prize fighter, had a set-to in front of the Budweiser saloon on Douglas street Saturday evening and were before Judge Crawford Wednesday morning on a charge of disturbing the peace. It was discovered the dispute came from numerous allegations made by both parties concerning the prize fights which each has been managing and Loch whacked the ex-pug in the eye and had his strong right arm caved in return. The Brown arrived in time to prevent a second round and took English to jail. Loch going down later. The two were discharged.

FRENCH HOUSEHOLD BEAUTY DOCTOR

A Simple Mixture Said to Work Wonders on the Complexion. Prepared at Home.

Some women are very vain, and others have little vanity, but all without exception are desirous of possessing a good complexion. Many women succeed admirably with artificial beautifiers, such as rouge and powders for the evening. They claim to be beautiful, but will not stand the glare of broad daylight and when used in the daytime produce a ludicrous sneaky appearance.

A prominent society lady, who has just returned from a long sojourn in Europe, brings back with her the recipe which she claims is the secret of the French women's beauty, notorious throughout the world, but mainly consists of an exquisite complexion.

The recipe is as follows: Two ounces of rose water, one ounce spirits of cologne, four ounces of santon (crystallized). Put the santon into a pint of hot water, soft water preferred, and after it is dissolved and cooled strain it through a fine cloth and add the rose water and spirits of cologne. This is to be used daily and thoroughly massaged into the skin. This treatment, if persisted in, is said to work wonders on even the worst complexions. The ingredients can be gotten at any drug store. The above formula will make sufficient for a thorough test.

GOULD DIETZ REAL RAFFLES

Omaha Man Proves Strategist in Foiling Country Constable.

RAFFLES PIE PAN OFFICER

Scared Horse in One Town and Arrested in Another, He Turns Cate Trick with the Telephone.

Gould Dietz's friends are hesitating whether to dub him Raffles or Sherlock Holmes. Over in a little Iowa town the constable matters course on the correspondence school from which he took his course in "How to be a Detective." Explanation: Mr. Dietz was taking an automobile trip with Mrs. Dietz through Iowa had the misfortune to meet a farmer whose horse took fright at the auto and did some slight damage to the wagon. The town hadn't seen so much excitement in a long time. But Mr. Dietz proceeded calmly on his way, not cognizant of the small tempest he had stirred up.

He continued to proceed for some thirty miles. Then as the auto was gliding through a small village a tall, gangling fellow with chin whiskers leaped suddenly from the platform in front of a store and waved his arms frantically at the approaching automobile. When it stopped the man of the paint brush tenorial adoration said:

"I'm the constable of this here town and I hereby place you under arrest."

"Why, what do you mean?" asked Mr. Dietz.

"Mean just what I say," replied the minion of the law. Then, defiantly pulling his coat lap aside he showed a badge as big as a saucer. "That's my 'thority," he said.

Finally Breaks the News. Pressed for further details the sleuth explained that he had received a telephone message from the town up the road stating that the automobilist had been responsible for scaring a horse and doing certain damage. Mr. Dietz tried to convince the constable that he had made a mistake in identifying him, but the arm of the law was unconvincing.

Then a thought bubbled up from the depths of a quiescent pool in Dietz' brain. He threw back his head and laughed. He laughed loud and boisterously and so long that the village policeman, which was gathered around the machine, edged away in fear. The constable seemed ill at ease.

"Ha, ha, ha, a good joke," exclaimed Dietz, when he had his breath again. "A friend of mine is putting up a job on you, my man. They'll get you in a nice mess if you don't watch them. A good joker, he is."

"What'd ye mean?" asked the sleuth.

"Mr. Dietz got out of the machine and engaged the constable in familiar conversation. A friend of his, he explained, a practical joker, had had that constable get to Omaha without getting into trouble. It was this friend who had called up by telephone and was having him stopped in this manner. It was really funny to think that the constable should have been duped in this way. But then, the best of men were not immune to mistakes. The main thing was to find out a mistake and correct it before anything came of it.

But the constable was not convinced. "Kin ye prove it?" he demanded.

"Certainly," said Dietz. "We'll call him up."

He proceeded to the telephone office. By some strange coincidence the man who had called up the constable got on the wire. Fortunately the sleuth was not skilled in the art of telephony and allowed Dietz to carry on the conversation. He merely listened to it and judged of what he didn't hear by the responses he heard from his prisoner.

What Dietz heard and what the constable heard were quite different. From the other end of the wire came curses and anathemas, but Dietz kept up a continuous flow of cheerful talk which sounded good to the constable, but not so to the man at the other end of the wire. After a particular choice bit of profanity poured into his ear Mr. Dietz rejoined:

"Sure, it was a good joke and I lose the cigars, but I'll get one on you some day, old man, that'll make 'em even. Ha, ha, ha."

"Fause, during which the wire fairly sizzles."

"Yes," continued Mr. Dietz. "Do you know, the constable here was actually going to arrest me. What's that? Give him a cigar and call it square? All right. But remember, old chap, I'll put up a little game on you sometime. Remember me to your wife. Good-by."

And Mr. Dietz hung up the receiver in the middle of certain unquotable remarks to the person at the other end of the wire. The constable smiled sheepishly.

"How's a detective going to know when people's playing jokes and when they're in earnest," he said as he accepted the cigars. "Anyways I done my duty to hold you till I knowed you wasn't the man."

As the auto disappeared in a cloud of dust the constable got word from the telephone office that someone wanted to talk to him.

COURT HOUSE BOND PROPOSAL

Matter of Submitting Proposition to Voters Will Soon Be Put in Shape.

The proposal to submit a bond proposition to the voters of the county for the erection of a new court house will be taken up by the commissioners at a meeting to be held within the next few days. John Latenser, the architect for the board, is now preparing new plans for a building which will be submitted to the board at this meeting. The new plans are the result of suggestions made by those interested after the first plans were made public. The general scheme is the same. The building will be placed on the south side of the square, allowing the present building to be used until the new one is completed. Then the present structure will be torn down and the space it now occupies parked.

The commissioners will ask that $1,000,000 in bonds be voted for the construction of the proposed building.

CITY HAS PRESTIGE IN EAST

Prosperity of Omaha is Known to People There, Says C. C. George.

"Omaha's new skyscraper buildings, its hundreds of new homes and its increasing bank clearings are not unknown to the people of the east," said C. C. George, who has returned from Martha's Vineyard, R. I., where he had a month's rest, incidentally visiting New York and other large cities.

"I talked with a number of brokers with whom we have occasional correspondence and I tell you they are pretty blue. They have been dealing in stocks which have declined lately and because Wall street in stock they think the country is going to the dogs. Their business doesn't seem to affect us out here."

RUSH TALKS OF BORAH CASE

Will Begin Prosecution of Idaho Senator Twenty-Third of This Month.

Special Assistant Attorney General S. R. Rush arrived in Omaha Wednesday morning from Idaho, called here by the illness of one of his children, and to look over matters pertaining to the forthcoming land trials in this federal district and arrange dates for their hearing.

"The ostensible purpose of my visit to Omaha at this time is to confer with District Attorney Goss and Assistant Attorney Lane in reference to the land trials set for hearing at the fall term of the Nebraska federal courts. It will be impracticable to begin these trials until about October 15. I understand Mr. Goss desires to get most of the minor cases out of the way first. We have not yet definitely decided upon the schedule in which the land cases will be tried, but expect to do so before I return to Boise, which will be the last of this week."

The trial of United States Senator W. E. Borah of Idaho will begin Monday, September 23. The indictment against him charges him, with others, of conspiring to defraud the government out of about 145,000 acres of timber lands, by means of six fraudulent entries, the forms of which are very similar to those in the Nebraska land cases, of which you are familiar. L. C. Wheeler, who so ably assisted in the Nebraska land cases, will assist in the collection of evidence in the Borah case. He is now at Boise. The penalty for such offenses as are charged against the Idaho senator in the case of conviction are from $1,000 to $7,000 fine and not to exceed two years imprisonment or both."

NEW THINGS FOR NEW KING

Many Improvements Will Get Ak-Sar-Ben XIII on His Triumphant Entry.

When King Ak-Sar-Ben drives in all the splendor of pageantry through the streets of his capital city this fall his eye will be delighted by many things that have not appeared before and which improve the appearance of the city. The main thoroughfare will be found paved with smooth asphalt upon which the wheels of the royal equipage will make neither noise nor jarring. He will see many new buildings, some completed since the royal procession of a year ago, others in various stages of construction. The new Brandeis building will rise before his eyes in all its classic beauty and the king can reflect that no other monarch possesses in his capital city a building which surpasses this one. The new Rome hotel he will see and the Cohn block coming on.

If he ventures into the wholesale district he will see half a dozen buildings, any one of them bigger than the biggest which existed in the city a year ago.

The outlines of the city of the sycarites, the place where the great carnival will be held during the jubilee week of King Ak-Sar-Ben are already visible. Carpenters have been at work for several days and already the grand entrance on Douglas and Woodworth streets for ground at Sixth and Dorcas streets has been called off because the property, when surveyed, proved to be not as large as supposed. Officials of the company have an option on a piece of ground on the south side of Dorcas street, between Sixth and Eighth, but the company is not satisfied with this, as it is largely filled ground.

Charles R. Sherman has brought from P. J. Traynor a house in Kountze place, paying $2,800.

Charles Cray of the American Radiator company has bought from J. P. White a $2,500 cottage on Thirtieth avenue, between Pacific street and Poppleton avenue.

John W. Robbins has sold to Jacob Litzman a $1,800 house at Seventeenth and Nicholas streets; also for Lewis Reed, Dr. Hahn a lot at Thirty-seventh and Dodge streets.

CAR BARN SITES ARE SCARCE

Difficult Matter for Street Railway to Bring Successful Close.

There seems to be no end to the troubles of the street railway company in getting a site for its south end car barn. The deal between the company and the heirs of the Woodworth estate for ground at Sixth and Dorcas streets has been called off because the property, when surveyed, proved to be not as large as supposed. Officials of the company have an option on a piece of ground on the south side of Dorcas street, between Sixth and Eighth, but the company is not satisfied with this, as it is largely filled ground.

MOST EXPENSE LISTS FILED

Furray Pays Less for Success Than Edwards Does to Get Elected.

Most of the candidates for county offices in the primaries have filed their expense accounts with the county clerk. The few who are hanging back will have to get in by Friday, as the ten days allowed by law will be up then. A. G. Edwards, candidate for county treasurer, expended $18.30, while Frank A. Furray, the successful candidate spent $12.35. E. F. Bradley, the successful nominee for sheriff, spent $10.25. Frank Mahoney, who missed out on the assessorship nomination by a few votes, went to an expense of $9.90. Judge Troup spent $19.55 and Judge Sutton $17.61. C. H. Brown spent $20.40. P. J. Traynor captured the nomination for county commissioner for $43.50, and it cost Fred Brunning $44.35 to secure the commissionership prize. George Cott, his principal competitor, expended $56.70. F. C. Best expended $66.50 in his fight for the comptrollership.

PROSPECT OF ANOTHER MILL

Kansas Man Who Tried to Buy Arriens' Plant is Coming

Omaha may have another flouring mill assured before the Udpick mill has ground many thousand barrels of flour. A Kansas man who figured on buying the Arriens mill, which later became the Udpick mill, but who delinquent a little too long to get it, still desires to operate a plant in Omaha and has written Byron R. Hastings that he will soon be in the city to look over the ground. He and his associates have all the money necessary to build and equip a plant and will not seek any Omaha capital.

DEMAND PLACES ON TICKET

Yeiser and Dickinson Claim to Have Been Nominated.

APPEAL TO SECRETARY OF STATE

Propose that Votes Received on Democratic and Republican Tickets Be United to Give Them Lead.

Formal demand upon the secretary of state that he be declared nominee of the republican party for district judge was made Wednesday by John O. Yeiser and Charles T. Dickinson. The demand was made in a joint letter by the two candidates and it is based on the fact they were on both the democratic and republican tickets. They insist their democratic vote and their republican vote should be added together and the total taken in determining their relative position among the republican candidates. If this rule were followed Dickinson, Yeiser and Foster would go on the republican ticket instead of Redick, Sears and Troup. Mr. Foster has not joined in the request and has already declined to run on the democratic ticket as he did not receive a plurality on the republican ticket. The letter sent to the secretary of state is as follows:

To the Honorable Secretary of State and the State Canvassing Board of the State of Nebraska: We, the undersigned candidates for nomination to the office of district judge at the late primary election for judges of the district court for the Fourth judicial district and petition for members of the democratic party, made fusion candidates on both democratic and republican tickets, hereby separately request and demand that all votes received by the undersigned be added together and the total taken in determining our relative position among the democratic party, for the said office, and that certificates of nomination be issued to us and our names be placed upon the ballot as candidates for such office at the November election.

The basis for this demand may be stated as follows:

First—The primary law was intended to afford fusion between political parties so as to allow two or more parties to enter upon the same ticket, to be common to as they chose.

Second—The express language of the act affords no other alternative.

Third—A section of the act provides that members of any party to make candidates of another party their candidates also, when the candidate shall be placed upon the ballot under the provisions of the act, and the provisions of the general election laws provide that the ballot shall afford an opportunity for members of either party to vote for the same candidate.

Fourth—The act provides expressly that the ballots shall be counted and the results returned in manner and form provided by the act relating to general elections. The general election laws provide all ballots shall be counted together.

Fifth—The act provides expressly that the person receiving the greatest number of votes shall be declared the winner, but any individual or party, as the candidate of a party for an office, shall be the candidate of that party.

Sixth—The supreme court has sustained this law, as the object of an intention to allow fusion, and thereby authorize fusion, between the republican and democratic parties, and combining their votes to elect a party, to determine which one should have both nominations should apply to the fusion between republican and democratic parties of this district.

Seventh—The same complications as arise here in this election, if not sustained, would arise in many counties of the state, where fusion exists, if votes were not counted together.

Eighth—It was the intention of the legislature to open the primaries through such petition to the whole people to nominate whom they so desired, rather than to smaller circles.

Ninth—That from a calculation of the canvass of the various counties of this district, the following candidates are believed to have the highest votes for judges in the district: Charles T. Dickinson, John O. Yeiser, Howard Kennedy, W. A. Foster and George Troup. The names of these candidates, as well as the names of the candidates, are hereby submitted to you for your consideration.

JOHN O. YEISER, CHAS. T. DICKINSON, Omaha, Sept. 10, 1907.

DANGER TO TALK OF FOOD

Boarder Says He Got a Licking for Criticizing His Table Fare.

Guests at the Biga boarding house on L street in South Omaha, take certain risks when they criticize the quality of grub set out for the boarders, according to the tale related by Burnett Ordowski, until recently one of the coteries that gathered around the table in the dining room. Ordowski has begun suit in the county court against Frank Biga, proprietor of the boarding house, John Biga, his son, and Jacob Stefanski, a relative of the Biga's, for an alleged assault committed a few days ago. He demands $200 for his alleged injuries.

Ordowski declares he and some other guests were making sarcastic remarks about the food provided for them, when the trio pounced upon him and raved him a severe beating. Claiming he was acting within his rights as a boarder when he made the objectionable remarks, he filed the suit for damages.

SET OF CITY PURE FOOD LAWS

Ordinances to Regulate Eating for Houses Are Considered by Health Commissioned by.

Health Commissioner Council is considering the matter of preparing a set of pure food ordinances for the city along the lines of the national pure food law, but with additions and amendments which will be of easier application to the local situation. His principal object is the regulation of the restaurants and hotels where health inspectors have found food not up to good health standards offered for sale. Some of the cases come under the terms of the state law, but others do not and the cost of prosecution in the district court, under the statute, is more expensive than in police court, while penalties are heavier than those which would probably be fixed by ordinance, so for these two reasons the health commissioner desires to inaugurate prosecutions before the police judge.

THE FACTS ABOUT GARBAGE

Omaha Rendering and Feed Company Granted Exclusive RIGHT TO HAUL GARBAGE For a Period of Fifteen Years—Most Citizens Do Not Clearly Understand the Provisions of the City Garbage Ordinance.

It Provides First—That the Omaha Rendering and Feed company shall have the exclusive right to haul garbage for a period of fifteen years.

Second—That every family shall provide themselves with a garbage can, with cover, of not less than ten gallon capacity. The Omaha Rendering and Feed company in consideration of the granting of the franchise agree to haul your garbage free provided you have a proper can.

The garbage company has so far been considerably hampered by their inability to secure steel wagons enough to properly cover the city. However, it will be but a few days until they will be in shape to handle the business quickly and completely.

To hurry this along they have turned over all their garbage and ash cans to a large Omaha firm (Hayden Bros.) who agree to deliver them free to all parts of Omaha.

Hayden Bros. have consented to do this for only a short time and will sell these cans for the next few days at special price reductions.

Ten-gallon cans, with cover, Rendering and Feed company's price, $1.50. Hayden Bros.' price, 80c.

Twelve-gallon cans, with cover, Rendering and Feed company's price, $1.40. Hayden Bros.' price, $1.15.

Sixteen-gallon cans, with cover, Rendering and Feed company's price, $1.60. Hayden Bros.' price, $1.35.

Twenty-gallon cans, with cover, Rendering and Feed company's price, $2.00. Hayden Bros.' price, $2.25.

Twenty-six-gallon cans, with cover, Rendering and Feed company's price, $2.75. Hayden Bros.' price, $2.50.

Thirty-gallon cans, with cover, Rendering and Feed company's price, $3.50. Hayden Bros.' price, $3.25.
